

Dealing With Painful Hemorrhoids - What you need to Know

Hemorrhoids are the swelling of the blood vessels or tissue in the anus or lower rectum and can become really painful if left untreated. Millions of people are silently struggling with hemorrhoids due to distress. They're ashamed to discuss or even ask advice regarding a problem involving the rectum. Dealing with painful hemorrhoids is not easy and sufferers must find ways to free themselves from this painful condition to improve the quality of their lives.

Have Your Hemorrhoids Checked by Your Doctor

Hemorrhoids can be internal or external and it is best to have it checked by your doctor. An excessive amount of straining in the course of bowel movement, chronic constipation, contamination in the anus and prolonged sitting are a couple of the causes of hemorrhoids. Age is also a factor because of its occurrence; people in their 40s to 60s are more likely to develop hemorrhoids. Pregnant women are also at risk of hemorrhoids but the condition usually disappears after giving birth.

Is not a life threatening condition but sometimes it can also be a symptom of colon problems so it is best to talk to your doctor to rule out any healthrelated issue especially if there is bleeding in the rectum or even blood in the stool. In dealing with painful hemorrhoids, forget about embarrassment because early detection of any medical problem can save you from serious illnesses. Less invasive treatments performed by doctors or surgeons to remove hemorrhoids tend to be rubber band ligation, infrared coagulation and also sclerotherapy but for large hemorrhoids, surgery maybe necessary.

“ Simple diet and changes in your lifestyle can be very helpful in dealing with painful hemorrhoids. Lack of fiber can cause chronic constipation that may lead to the development of hemorrhoids. More fiber to your diet increases digestion of food and is likely to make the stool softer and simpler to pass so constipation or too much pushing during bowel movement can be avoided. Fruits, vegetables and whole grains are good sources of dietary fiber. It is also important in order to drink a lot of water, at least 8 portions of water everyday. Prolonged sitting can also result to hemorrhoids so it is healthier to be physically active than sit all day at home or in front of the computer.
